

Are you an Indigenous person aged 18+?

We would like to invite you to share your experiences of accessing or providing doula services for Indigenous people and families.

Who can participate?

- Indigenous people interested to talk about their experience accessing or trying to access doula services in the Vancouver area
- Indigenous people interested to talk about their experience providing doula services (i.e. Indigenous doulas) to clients who access services in the Vancouver area

Eligible participants must be 18 or older and comfortable conversing in English.

Who are we?

This graduate student research project is being led by Danette Jubinville, a Sauteaux/Cree researcher and member of the Ekw'í7tl Doula Collective, and Nicole Berry from Simon Fraser University.

What is involved?

Participation involves one 60 to 90 minute interview. In appreciation for your time and effort, you will receive a $100 honorarium.
